Two Missouri men, Williams and Speelman, are given places on the All-Missouri Valley basketball team, which appears this morning in the Kansas City Star. The mythical quintet was chosen by C. E. McBride, sporting editor of the Star, from the selections of four coaches and two officials of the Valley.

Missouri also scored twice in the selection of a second team, Campbell and Hyde being placed on this five. Kansas is not given a place on either team.

C. E. Van Gent of Missouri, C. J. Merner of the Kansas Aggies, H. H. Walters of Ames and W. O. Hamilton were the coaches who picked teams. Choices were also made by E. C. Quizley and Guy S. Lowman, officials.

The choices of the two officials were exactly the same for the first team as the list formally named. The opinions of the coaches, of course, differed somewhat.

"The All-Missouri Valley Conference basketball team, a first and a second, as selected after a careful count of the 'pickings' of four Conference coaches and two Conference officials, shows a preponderance of Kansas Aggies and Missouri players," says the Star, and that despite the fact that Nebraska is credited with winning the Valley championship. Perhaps had the votes of the Nebraska and the Drake coaches been considered, the personnel of the 'All' teams might have been changed, but these selections were not available.

"Perhaps the teams selected by Quizley and Lowman, officials, should carry more weight than the others. However, in regard to the lack of Nebraska material on the 'All' teams, perhaps the team of H. H. Walters, the Iowa Aggies' coach, may be taken as a representative opinion of the northern section of the Valley basketball circuit on the Cornhusker eleven. Walters picked two Missouri men and two Kansas Aggies for his first squad, an Ames man drawing the other position. He placed three Nebraska men on the second five.

"C. E. Van Gent, the Missouri coach, in picking his teams wrote that he did not see Nebraska play. He mentioned Gibbens and Cole of Kansas and Berry of Washington as good men.

"Carl J. Merner of the Kansas Aggies explained his choice of the Aggie guards, saying that McMillan had only thirty-five baskets scored against him in eighteen games and Ramsey only twenty-seven.

"Williams, the Missouri center and captain of the Tiger five for next winter, was the only member of the first 'All' team to win the first team vote of each man who picked a team. However, Adams of the Kansas Aggies and Campbell of Missouri, drew six team and three for a second place vote, Adams getting three for the first sition and Campbell two for first and four for second. Reynolds, the Kansas Aggie forward, won five votes for a first team position, Coach Walters of the Iowa Aggies passing him."

THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE

The largest and most wonderful motion picture ever produced, with possible exception of "The Birth of a Nation."

Some who have seen both claim "The Battle Cry of Peace" the most thrilling of the two—18,000 feet of film—depicting "The Horrors of War" "The Compared Happiness of Peace."

See this gigantic picture—not for war but for peace. See the compared strength of the United States Army—with other nations.

See an invading fleet attack New York harbor. See the harbor destroyed. See the foreign army take possession of American soil. See the ruin and devastated condition of our beloved country brought about in only a few hours. See homes broken up and destroyed. See loved ones taken from us. See the prisoners marched away.

This is only part of this Wonderful Picture—this is not an ordinary picture show—this is a wonderful picture costing a million dollars to produce. 1,600 national guardsmen, 800 G. A. R. members, 5,000 horses, 17 aeroplanes, zeppelins, sea planes, submarines, battleships, dreadnoughts, armed motor cars and other men and equipment used in this great picture.

This picture has been running in the cities for weeks to packed houses—at prices from 50c to $2.00.

See the woman, "An American Mother," shoot her two daughters rather than see them fall into the hands of these bandits.

This picture is one everyone should see—and it has been brought to your city—and prices reduced to 25c & 35c, so that everyone can and should see it while it is here.
